6. Vacation is not a matter of right. The HoD may detain any faculty member for any specific duty related to admission, examination, teaching, research or administrative work. While a faculty member may not refuse such assignment even in short notice, it is expected that HoDs will inform the faculty members well in advance, preferably before the starting of the vacation.
7. Vacation may be availed ONLY after submission of grades of all courses taught and examined by the faculty, giving proper assignments to students (Ph.D. and M.Tech.), giving due advice to technical staff for maintenance of laboratories, and making satisfactory arrangement for all responsibilities normally handled by the concerned faculty member.
8. The HoD, before permitting vacation, should satisfy him/herself that the faculty concerned has made proper arrangement for his responsibilities.

The vacation period can be used for supervision of students carrying out research, writing project proposals, preparing lecture notes or for planning and setting up laboratories.
12. When a faculty member has vacation due, he may not use any other kind of leave. Rule pertaining to suffixing/prefixing of holidays and weekends for availing vacation will be same as that of Earned Leave. During the year, the period of vacation that an employee is entitled to will be 60 days.
13. Faculty members leaving Headquarters during vacation need to apply for station leaving permission.
14. The Establishment Section will calculate Earned Leave to be credited to the accounts of the faculty members by using following formulae:
 - a) Entire vacation : 30 days E.L
 - b) Part of vacation : $\frac{60 - \text{vacation}}{2}$Where E.L = Number of days to be credited to the E.L. account.
Vacation = Number of days vacation availed during the calendar year
15. All Earned Leaves will be calculated on calendar year basis i.e. 1st January to 31st December covering both Summer and Winter Vacation.

This issues with the approval of the competent authority.
